If fed on these Cakes the life of the Dog would be much longer and certain than in the case in hot climates." 5 cwt. packed in a cask, free on board in England, at 20s. per cwt. ; for a ton or more, 18s. per cwt., free on board.

ADVERTISING AT RAILWAY STATIONS.

The Proprietor of the "Bombay Gazette" Press having leased (among other privileges) from the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company, and the Bombay, Baroda, and Central India Railway Company, the exclusive right of advertising at all the Railway Stations belonging to those two Companies, is prepared to contract with parties desirous of posting Notices or Advertisements on the lines.

The announcements may be in English or in any of the Native languages.

The advantages which Railway Stations present as a means of bringing intimations of all kinds before the Public have been demonstrated in England by the extensive use which is made by Advertisers, of every station, great and small, along every line in the United Kingdom.

Insurance Companies, Shipping Companies, Hotel-keepers, Merchants, Traders, and others who wish to force their business on the notice of the Public, all alike value the privilege of Railway Station Advertising.

There is no reason why the privilege should not be also specially valuable to Advertisers in India. Looking to the great and increasing number of Native Railway Passengers on the two trunk lines of Western India, native merchants, traders, &c., seeing that they have the privilege of advertising in their own language, would find the publication of their announcement at Railway Stations a most decided means of extending their business

And as nearly All Travellers arriving in India now land at Bombay, and proceed by the G. I. P. or B. B. and C. I. Railways to their destination, Placards exhibited at the different Stations on those lines are every day becoming more and more valuable as means of bringing the Advertisers' business to the notice of the Public.

Advertisers can select the Stations, on either line, at which they wish their Notices posted, and may advertise for any period they may be agreed on. The charges have been fixed on an extremely moderate scale to encourage Advertisers to make a liberal use of those new means now offered of making announcements known to the Public.

Placards, according to the taste of Advertisers, may be printed at the "Bombay Gazette" Press.

THE First Number of the New Series of the OVERLAND SUMMARY OF THE BOMBAY GAZETTE is a considerable improvement on anything we have yet seen turned out in a similar shape. It contains 32 pages, and is replete with interesting information on Indian subjects of all kinds. At the price, four annas, the Summary is ridiculously cheap. Sixty-nine columns of closely printed reading matter all for a mere sixpence! The fact is almost beyond belief by reason of its very marvellousness. In addition to a well-arranged and judiciously-selected mass of intelligence there is a series of articles on the topics of the times, reproduced from the daily editions of the Bombay Gazette. On the whole, or taking it all in all, the Overland Summary, published at the Bombay Gazette Press, is about the best, if it is not the best, we have seen and people desirous of keeping their friends in the mother-country well-informed of all that is transpiring in this far-off land would be guilty of an unpardonable act of omission if they neglected forwarding by each Mail copies of the really excellent publication we have been noticing.—Sindian.

FRIDAY, JULY 12, 1872.

THE general feeling that the Government of India erred on the side of severity, in degrading Mr. Forsyth for his share in the execution of the Kooka prisoners, has now become so strong both in this country and in England, that it is certain that distinguished officer's prospects in the Service have not been marred, and that he may still look forward with confidence to winning the highest prizes of an Indian career. As regards Mr. Cowan's case, we have had placed at our disposal a copy of a despatch from the Government of the Punjab to the Government of India, the tenour of which does not by any means justify the following words in the concluding paragraph of the Resolution on the Kooka outbreak :—"His Excellency is happy to "be able to recognize that there is no essential "difference between the views entertained by "the Governor General in Council and those "of the high officer entrusted with the adminis"tration and security of a province so im"portant as that of the Punjab." We subjoin the text of the despatch signed by the Secretary to the Punjab Government, from which it is quite plain that Mr. Davies (the Lieutenant-Governor) entirely concurred with Mr. Forsyth in thinking that "the action taken in good "faith" by Mr. Cowan "must be supported" :—

EXTRACT FROM LETTER 36 C.

From Secretary to Government, Punjab, to Secretary to Government of India, Home Department, dated 26th January 1872.

SIR,—I am directed to forward, for the information of His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General in Council, a letter from the Commissioner, Umballa Division, No. 27 of 22nd January, with enclosure, on the subject of the action taken by Mr. Cowan, Deputy Commissioner, Loodiana, on the occasion of the late Kooka outbreak.

2. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that Mr. Cowan acted with great promptitude and energy in calling out the Jheend and Nabha Horse, and going himself at once to Mulair Kotla, to aid in the defence of that place and the suppression of the disturbance.

3. As regards the executions ordered and carried out by him, in concert with the Mulair Kotla authorities, the Lieutenant-Governor believes that he acted, as he thought, for the best, and under a strong sense of his personal responsibility for the adoption of the promptest measures for securing the peace of the country; and His Honor considers that much allowance must be made for the difficult position in which he was placed, and for his being unable to judge correctly to how many places the Kooka outbreak extended, and in what degree it might gain head by delay in the infliction of punishment.

4. But considering that the Commissioner was close at hand, and that many of the prisoners were wounded and apparently dispirited, the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that Mr. Cowan would have shown more coolness and discretion had he obtained the previous sanction of his proceedings by superior authority. It is clear, however, that this sanction would not have been withheld, as, on his arrival, the Commissioner sentenced sixteen more prisoners to death. * * *

* * * *

5. It may no doubt be reasonably questioned whether so many capital executions were, even under circumstances so trying, necessary or expedient, and whether an example, equally deterrent, might not have been made by a less indiscriminate sentence. The Lieutenant-Governor himself inclines to this opinion, but, on the other hand, it is certain that all the prisoners executed were, even under the ordinary criminal law of the British territory, guilty of capital offences, whilst the position and antecedents of the Mulair Kotla State, as a solitary Mahomedan principality, constantly exposed to fanatical attack, strongly impel its authorities and inhabitants to advocate as a measure of security their repression by the severest punishment.

It is stated that the Kotwal returned to the town apprehensive of a repeated attack, and both the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner allude to parties of Kookas flocking round Mulair Kotla and creating fresh alarm. The authorities on the spot could alone correctly judge of the tendency of such demonstrations, and, in His Honor's opinion, the action taken in good faith by them must be supported.—I have, &c.,

L. GRIFFIN,
Offg. Secy. to Govt., Punjab.

There is a wide difference between the views herein expressed and those of the Government of India. Mr. Davies speaks of the sentence passed by Mr. Cowan as "indiscriminate," but he only means "hasty," for he adds that "all "the prisoners executed were, even under the "ordinary criminal law of the British territory, "guilty of capital offences," and that they would have been sentenced to death by the Commissioner in regular process of law. He suggests, moreover, in excuse for that "haste" on Mr. Cowan's part which Mr. Forsyth deprecated, that the Deputy Commissioner had noticed "parties of Kookas flocking round Mulair "Kotla and creating fresh alarm;" and, adds the Lieutenant-Governor, "the authorities on "the spot could alone correctly judge of the "tendency of such demonstrations." The importance of this despatch, in enabling the public to form a just estimate of Mr. Cowan's conduct, cannot be overrated, and the Government of India has not acted fairly towards either Mr. Cowan or the public in suppressing it. As it is now clear that the local Government considers Mr. Cowan at Mulair Kotla was a better judge of what might be necessary than the Government itself could pretend to be at Labore, and that it would not even have removed him from his appointment for having acted illegally in executing his prisoners, we may hope that the disgrace of being dismissed from the service will be held to be a sufficient punishment for this too faithful servant. His name is lost; his life is broken; his wife has died of grief; why persecute him further for his too great zeal by condemning him and his family to end their days in penury?

THE historical retrospect, which formed the first part of the Carwar Railway pamphlet read by Mr. M'Ilwraith to the members of the Chamber of Commerce at their meeting on Wednesday, would have been more valuable if it had included an account of the origin and fortunes of the Carwar Company. In such an account it would, of course, have been mentioned that one of the directors of the Company is Mr. Kessowjee Naik, Messrs. W. Nicol and Co.'s well-known and wealthy broker, who obtained the signatures of his reluctant caste people to that remarkable native petition in favour of the Carwar Railway which Mr. M'Ilwraith, with many touching expressions of respect for the opinion of his enlightened native fellow-citizens undaunted and honest horse that has been seen on the turf for years, and he will struggle on for ever. His most enthusiastic admirers insist that, but for collisions and disappointments, he would have beaten Cremorne for the Derby. But his practised and skillful jockey French does not endorse this opinion, and is perfectly satisfied that his horse succumbed to an animal which is his superior. On the other hand, there are a few captious critics who insist that he showed the white feather in his race with King Lud and Lord Gough, but his jockey ridicules the idea of such an imputation, and considers his heart as bold as a lion's. There can be no doubt that he has greatly improved since he ran for the Two Thousand, and by September will be one of the finest three year olds on the Town Moor. Every time Khedive ran at Ascot he improved so much, that he has passed his stable companion, King Lud, in the quotations, and has now a legion of friends at 15 to 2, but glad indeed as I should be to see the white and red spots first past the post at Doncaster, I cannot class Lord Zetland's colt higher than as a good useful animal of the second class. Louise Victoria's subsequent running disappointed me, and she must come up full 21 lbs, between this and the mare's month, before she can aspire to St. Leger honours. If there is danger to Lord Falmouth's colt anywhere, it is from Russley, with Gladiolus, of whom I have heard frequently written as the Gladiateur and Sunbeam colt. He met with a bad accident immediately before the Derby, having run away at exercise and cut himself severely over some wire, but he is all right now, and is doing good work. Mr. Merry is very fond of him, and he is certain to start a leading favourite. I hear of an outsider also, of whom more in a later despatch. At present, after considering the matter carefully, I can see nothing in the St. Leger so much entitled to recommendation as QUEEN'S MESSENGER and GLADIOLUS.

There are still twenty-seven horses left in the Northumberland Plate, of these probably not one-half will see the post, but the number of starters will be quite sufficient to render the race as interesting as ever, though there may not be any underhand or a caller in it. I never knew a groggy-limbed horse win the "pitman's race," and this year, if our present scorching midsummer weather continues, as it promises to do, the race will be run over ground quite as bad as you have in India. Mr. Merry's Strasbourg heads the poll, and as he has only 6 st. 4 lbs. to carry, and if he be not quite good enough to win, should at least run into a place. He is out of Little Hannah by Lanercost, and his pedigree is therefore intimately connected with success at Newcastle, as his great grand-dam the famous Beeswing won this Cup no less than six times, and Lanercost took away the trophy in 1840. Field Marshal has the reputation of being a rather uncertain horse, but his performances as a three-year old in handicaps will bear investigation, and he is a remarkably nice horse, having the advantage of being owned by Mr. Bowes, one of the most straightforward gentlemen on the turf, and who has won this very race twice during the past three years with horses of his own breeding. King Cole is a great fine horse, and though he suffered terribly from splints as a two year old, I noticed when he ran for the Cesarewitch that these pony exercescences had been removed by proper treatment. He has been going and looking remarkably well for some time past at Richmond, and Coates will send him thoroughly well to the post. I can see nothing in the list of acceptances for the present that appears more reliable than such horses as Field Marshal, King Cole, and Strasburg.

This week we have had the Royal Windsor Summer Races, but they have presented nothing of interest, and the great cockney carnival at Hampton, where all the snobs and demi monde of London are to be met with, is now in full swing. Yesterday at Henley were charmingly combined the pleasures of a regatta, a race-meeting, a picnic, and a river excursion. There was scarcely a breeze to vex the surface of the dreamy river, or to bow the heads of the rushes, but a mighty, lazy, sleepy heat was present. I do not think that to the majority present rowing was the chief attraction, the regatta was only an excuse for a picnic a la Philip Calderon, R. A., many a Phyllis and Corydon did I see making love under some shady tree on the Oxford shore, and Temple Island was after two o'clock a waste of lobster claws and marine bottles of pale. Every club in England was represented in every conceivable uniform, the dark-blue of Oxford, the dark-blue and white of London, the light blue of Cambridge and Eton, the blazing scarlet of Kingston and Magdalen College, and the sombre black of Dublin were met at every turn. The racing was very poor, but the enjoyment intense. The great feature of the day was unquestionably the success of Mr. E. Smith, of the American Atalanta Club, for the second heat of the Diamond Challenge Sculls, and in this case every one went out of his or her way to express pleasure in an unmistakeable manner. Although the American was contending with a well known English sculler, every one wanted the visitor to win, and the result of the race exactly suited the public taste, and when Mr. Smith's scarlet silk handkerchief was first seen round the corner, the best and most genuine shout of the day was given, and "Bravo, Atalanta! Bravo, New York!" resounded on all sides. But in the sixth heat the Atalanta oarsman had to meet in Mr. Laughton one of the best scullers at this regatta, and was beaten easily by a length and a half, not without a foul but of his own making. On the signal being given, Smith dashed off with the lead, but, failing to hold the direct advantage, he steered so far down on Laughton that the umpires, when scarcely 200 yards had been completed, stopped the race and ordered them back to the start. Again Smith dashed away with the lead, but before fifty strokes were done, Laughton first headed, then cleared him, and led easily to the end by a length and a half. The London Club eight oars easily defeated the Cantabs for the second heat of the Grand Challenge Cup, and Pembroke (Oxford) as easily won the first heat of the Ladies' Challenge Cup.

Unless Her Majesty extends her royal clemency to Margaret Dibdain, the unfortunate woman will be hanged on the 1st of July. At Paris a murderer of a much worse kind, a scoundrel called Du Bourg, gets off with five years' prison seclusion. The closing scene of this murderer's trial is quite dramatic, and brings out the cowardly wife-slayer in his true colours. While M. Desrozieres, the President, is summing up the evidence with a partiality he does not attempt to disguise, and which is in substance a vigorous charge against the prisoner, Du Bourg's head bigens to go, and a glass containing drops of ether is put in his hand. He drinks it off and immediately swoons on the bench, falling heavily on his left side, and is carried off amidst great excitement. A few minutes afterwards he is led back to the prisoners' box, ghastly pale and supported between two gendarmes. He has recovered just in time to hear the verdict. On the question of wilful homicide the jury return a verdict of Guilty; on that of premeditation the reply is not guilty, and admit the customary extenuating circumstances. In conformity with this very French verdict, Du Bourg is condemned to five years' prison seclusion. The accused, who stood up between gendarmes to hear the verdict, is struck with terror at hearing his sentence. He looks widely round him, his green mouth is opened wide, and turning to the audience with outstretched arms he gasps out, " Cinq ans de prison! oh, les hommes, les hommes!" Instead of five years' seclusion he should have been condemned to the public executioner's knife. This fiend had deliberately laid a trap for his faithless wife, and by aid of fist, sword, cane, and stiletto, he murdered her in cold blood.

THE THIRD CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

AT the Criminal Sessions of the High Court yesterday, the following case was tried before the Hon. Mr. Justice Bayley and a special jury.

COTTON FRAUD UPON MESSRS. VOLKART BROTHERS.

Jetha Soorjee, Balla Meya, Jairam Walljee, Morarjee Govindjee, and Shaik Adum were arraigned at the bar, in that, on the 16th April last at Bombay, in a certain vessel used for the custody of property, some of them committed theft of fifteen bales of cotton, the property of Messrs. Volkart Brothers, and that others of them aided and abetted the commision of the offence. They were also charged with a similar offence in respect of ten bales of cotton, the property of Messrs. Volkart Brothers; and further with dishonest misappropriation; and with dishonestly receiving stolen property. The prisoner Shaik Adum was further charged with having been entrusted with the fifteen and the ten cotton bales as a carrier, and with having committed criminal breach of trust in respect of the property by disposing of the same in violation of a certain legal contract, which he had made touching the discharge of the trust. Mr. Marriott, with Mr. Farran, instructed by Messrs. Jefferson and Payne, appeared for the prosecution. It will be recollected that, in a similar case of fraud committed upon the same firm, the first three prisoners (together with one Balla Shaik Hoosein) were convicted and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for seven years each.

Mr. Anstey, on behalf of the first prisoner, pleaded guilty to the present charge, saying that, under the advice of his legal advisers, prisoner did not wish to put his Lordship and the jury to the trouble of going through the case against him, since he had been convicted in a similar case, and begged for mercy. Mr. Inverarity, on behalf of the second prisoner, and Mr. B. M. Wagle, on behalf of the third, put in similar pleas of guilty and begged for mercy. The fifth prisoner also pleaded guilty. The fourth pleaded not guilty, saying he knew nothing of what was going to be done; and the trial proceeded against him alone. The charges against him were aiding and abetting the other prisoners in the commission of the theft, criminal breach of trust, &c.

Mr. Marriott, in addressing the jury, briefly stated the facts of the case for the prosecution. This was the second case in which Messrs. Volkart Brothers had lately been obliged to prosecute in respect of consignments of cotton made to Europe. Four out of the five prisoners arraigned at the bar had pleaded guilty, which would considerably shorten the case, which the learned counsel was instructed to lay before the jury. The circumstances were shortly these. In April last, Messrs. Volkart Brothers had to make consignments of cotton to Europe for sale there, per ships Macedon and Sandringham. One of the prisoners who had pleaded guilty, Shaik Adum, was the tindal of a cargo boat which was employed to carry the cotton from the shore to the ship. On the 12th April last, eighty bales of cotton were put on board from his prow at Ritchie's Bunder to be taken alongside the ship Macedon. In the sides the bales were marked with the name Volkart Brothers in full, and with a triangle, inside of which was the figure 116; at the top of which were the letters N. O. (New Oomrawuttee), and at the base the letters V. B. (Volkart Brothers). Marks similar to the last-mentioned appeared also in the ends of the bales. On the above date, as already stated, the last prisoner's boat put off from Ritchie's Bunder with the eighty bales and proceeded to the ship Macedon. She was not ready to receive the cargo, and after remaining alongside four or five days, the boat left the ship and went to Mody Bunder. The tindal, the fifth prisoner, went ashore; and in consequence of certain arrangements, the boat was taken in the evening to Ritchie's Bunder, and there lay at anchor. The object no doubt was to facilitate the commission of the offence with which prisoners were charged, namely, the substitution of bales of rubbish for Messrs. Volkart Brothers' bales. At night a stranger boat went alongside the cargo boat, from which fifteen bales were transferred to the stranger boat, which delivered fifteen other bales that were in her. In order to avoid detection, the marks in the ends of the cotton bales were cut off and were tacked on to the bales of rubbish, making the latter appear to be part of the cargo belonging to Messrs. Volkart Brothers. The next morning the fifth prisoner's prow proceeded to the ship Macedon, and after some delay discharged the eighty bales, including the fifteen bales of rubbish which had been fraudulently substituted. Having discharged her cargo, she went again to Ritchie's Bunder, where she received on the 29th April another cargo of eighty bales, all of which were marked similarly to the others with the exception that the figure in the triangle was 129 instead of 116. That night the same stranger prow, with the same persons in it, went alongside the cargo boat, and ten bales of rubbish from the stranger boat were substituted for ten bales out of the cargo belonging to Messrs. Volkart Brothers. The marks on the ends of the ten good bales were cut off and sewn on to the ends of the bales of rubbish. The prow went next morning alongside the Sandringham, and discharged the cargo as on the former occasion. These facts would be proved by certain boatmen who were in the fifth prisoner's boat on both the above occasions. On the 17th May last the first three prisoners were arrested, and in consequence of statements made by them, it was ascertained that thirty bales of cotton were sent overland by the P. and O steamer Malta and thirty by the Pekin in the name of Morarjee Govindjee. The Malta had gone too far away to allow any thing being done; but a telegram was sent to Suez, and the thirty bales on board the Pekin were brought back to Bombay by the Peshawar. It would be shewn that twenty of these bales formed part of the cargo belonging to Messrs. Volkart Brothers, intended to be shipped to Europe per ship Sandringham. The marks on the twenty bales had been partially obliterated, but were still visible. The marks in the ends had been altered, and inside the triangle were the initials M. G. (Morarjee Govindjee). In April and the beginning of May last, 120 bales of rubbish were found to have been pressed at the Nursey Kessowjee or the Imperial Press on account of the prisoner; and fifty-two of them, as they were lying at the Carnac Bunder, were seized by the Customs authorities, on the ground that they contained rubbish. On the 12th April, prisoner employed a Custom House broker to get a pass for thirty bales. That Custom House pass would be produced and would shew that the word Macedon had been struck out and the word Pekin substituted, and that it was signed by Morarjee Govindjee.

Several witnesses were examined for the prosecution.

His Lordship, in summing up the case, said there appeared to be no ground for charging the prisoner Morarjee. He was a young man, a servant of the first prisoner, and had nothing whatever to do with the substitution of the bales. The only evidence against him was that he went to Damjee Veerjee, a Custom House broker, and asked him to get a pass, the whole of which is in English. The pass purported to be signed in a fair Gujeratee handwriting by Morarjee Govindjee; but it appeared from the calendar itself that the prisoner was unable to read or write even his own language, and he could not be expected to know the contents of the pass in English. The evidence, the jury would think, was not sufficient to take the life of a musquito! There was not, in his Lordship's opinion, a tittle of evidence against the prisoner, and the jury were told they had better acquit him.

The jury found the fourth prisoner not guilty, and he was discharged.

His Lordship, in sentencing the prisoners who pleaded guilty, told the first three prisoners they had already been sentenced each to seven years' imprisonment for an offence similar to this, and the sentence upon them for the present offence was that they be kept to rigorous imprisonment for a week each after the expiration of the former sentence. The last prisoner, Shaik Adum, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for seven years.

THE following case was heard in the afternoon before a common jury.

BREACH OF TRUST AND MISAPPROPRIATION.

Mooljee Ramjee was charged with criminal breach of trust and dishonest misappropriation, in that he being in 1858 a banker and merchant carrying on business in Bombay, was entrusted by one Hurrukchund Hunsraj with two Government promissory notes for Rs. 3,500 and Rs. 3,000 respectively, which he, on the 26th May 1871, converted to his own use, and thereby committed criminal breach of trust. He was further charged with criminal breach of trust in respect of the two notes as the agent of Hurrukchund Hunsraj; with committing criminal breach of trust in respect of the two notes which were entrusted to him as a banker and merchant by Baee Amrut and Baee Motee; and as their agent; and also with abetment of the offences of criminal breach of trust and dishonest misappropriation in respect of the two notes in either of the above instances. The Hon'ble Mr. Mayhew and Mr. Starling, instructed by Messrs. Dallas and Lynch, appeared for the prosecution. Mr. Anstey and Mr. Marriott, instructed by Messrs. Hearn, Cleveland and Peile, appeared for the defence.

Mr. Mayhew briefly stated the facts of the case, which, he said, would be more amply detailed by the witnesses for the prosecution. He had to invite the attention of the jury to the grave charges which they had heard read by the Clerk of the Crown. They had heard from his Lordship that they could not be allowed to separate over night until they had delivered their verdict; and that as there was no likelihood of the case finishing that night, arrangements had been made for their accommodation at an hotel. That circumstance in itself indicated the gravity of the charges. The prisoner had entrusted to his care certain Government promissory notes, which he sold and misapplied the proceeds to his own use. In 1858 one Cullianjee Mowjee, who was living in Bombay, was desirous to deposit in trust certain Government promissory notes; and accordingly three notes of the value of Rs. 7,500 were deposited for safe custody with the prisoner's firm, of which he and his brother, Canjee Ramjee, were the partners, and which traded in Bombay and Mangarole. The chief witness for the prosecution was Hurrukchund Hunsraj; and he would state that he delivered the notes, including the two which formed the subject-matter of investigation, to the prisoner's firm immediately after he got them from Cullianjee Mowjee. Cullianjee died after delivering the notes to Hurrukchund, leaving him surviving two widows, Baee Amrut and Baee Motee, who succeeded to his estate. It appears that a writing in respect of the two notes was in the presence of the widows executed at the house of Mooljee Ramjee in Mangorole by him and his brother Canjee Ramjee. The writing in question contained an express provision that they were to be kept in safe custody for certain charitable purposes; and a copy of it was on the occasion given to the widows for their information. The learned counsel said it would probably be pleaded in defence that the notes were made over to prisoner and his brother for their use. But the document referred to rebetted any such case. Of course the interest on the notes was drawn by prisoner in accordance with the directions of the widows, and on their account. The prisoner's books, moreover, contain a series of entries showing that the notes were kept in trust. For several years the notes were thus dealt with. But in an evil hour, the prisoner deposited the notes with the Bank of Bombay and drew against them as a cash deposit, in February 1864, without the knowledge or consent of the widows. This circumstance was kept secret until the firm became insolvent, and the widows found that the payments of interest was stopped. The notes were taken over by the New Bank of Bombay in 1868; and on the 26th May 1871, the prisoner being unable to discharge his liability, the Bank sold the notes under the direction of the prisoner or his brother to satisfy its own demand. In this sale consisted the dishonest misappropriation and criminal breach of trust. It was a regret to the prosecution, said the learned counsel, that Canjee Ramjee was not standing in the dock beside his brother. They had been able to find Mooljee only. The prosecution might not be able to prove which of the brothers went to deposit the notes with the Bank. If Canjee was the man to cause the misappropriation, his brother Mooljee was equally liable for abetting the offence. One or other of the brothers must have dealt with the notes in this dishonest way; and the other would, in that case, be guilty of abetting the offence.

Two witnesses were called for the prosecution, after which the Court adjourned until this morning. The jury were sent in a 'bus to the Byculla Hotel in charge of several European police officers, his Lordship expressing his regret that he could not allow them to separate. The prisoner was released on bail until to-day.

INDIAN ITEMS.

THERE has been a Rifle Match at Trichinopoly between the teetotallers and non-teetotallers of the 2nd B. 21st Fusiliers. The teetotallers won by 18 points, and of course the result is a triumph for the water-drinkers.

THE arrivals from Las Beyla, during the fortnight ending 30th June, were 2,458 camels, 391 donkeys, in charge of 1,387 men, bringing the usual commodities imported into Kurrachee from that quarter.—Ibid.

A FAKEER KILLED BY A SHEPHERD.—A man, a shepherd by calling, while tending his flock about a week ago, in Veerad, beyond the Hubb, about a mile from British territory, had an altercation with a fakeer about some pice; the fakeer struck him with his fist, and the shepherd dealt him in return some blows on the head, after which the shepherd went away. The dead body of the fakeer was discovered by the police, and enquiry led to the apprehension of the shepherd, who is now in custody in Kurrachee.—Ibid.

KURRACHEE AT LAST REFRESHED BY RAIN.—Last Wednesday morning was ushered in by a steady fall of rain, accompanied by thunder and lightning. The fall continued for an hour, and was sufficiently heavy to fill the tanks and wells; the roads were well saturated, in some places large pools and puddles had formed, much to the inconvenience of pedestrians. We have had no rain since the weather cleared up on Wednesday. The total fall gauged on that day was one inch and thirty-two cents.—Ibid.

THREE MEN DROWNED.—During the heavy fall of rain on Wednesday morning three men lost their lives at the Lyaree, near the Dhobee Ghaut. Five men, two residents of Camp, and three of Dhobee Ghaut, were going from Camp to Dhobee Ghaut, and attempted to cross the river, which they considered was fordable; all of them sunk into the soft muddy ground in the river; two were rescued alive from their perilous position, the other three were dead. The two extricated were restored to consciousness after a time. The men saved belong, we are told, to the dhobee caste, and are dhobees by calling; the other three belonged to the same caste, and followed the same calling.—Ibid.

THE Bishop of Calcutta, attended by his chaplain, arrived at Goalundo by train on the 29th ultimo. The Government steamer Koladyne, with yacht Sonamukhi in tow, was in readiness. In the evening his Lordship consecrated the new cemetery. On Sunday morning prayers were said on board the yacht, followed by administration of Holy Communion, the offertory being devoted to the Additional Clergy Society. On the first instant, on the arrival of the rest of his Lordship's party, the steamer left at once for Gowhatty.—Indian Daily News.

THE CYCLONE AT BHUDRUCK.—We have received some particulars of the cyclone that recently visited Bhudruck and the adjacent country. The cyclone, we learn, made its appearance at 7 A.M. on the morning of the 1st instant, and did not abate till nearly midnight. It caused a great deal of damage in the station itself and in all the country round. The cyclone had scarcely abated, when a great flood rushed down the Salundi river, which passes through Bhudruck. This flood almost rivalled the great flood that visited the same part in 1868.—Ibid.

A FATAL FIGHT.—On the afternoon of Sunday last, two young men, named S. King and Tom Corners, employés of the Madras Railway Company, residing at Perampore, left their houses to pass a pleasant day at some distance from their homes. As they indulged freely in liquor, they became intoxicated, and the two friends began to quarrel about a two anna piece. Corners struck King a blow with his fist, and followed up the blow with a kick, which knocked King down. After a little time King got on his legs and struck Corners a blow on his right side. Corners fell down and expired immediately. King was arrested by the police, and the body of Corners was conveyed to the General Hospital.—Madras Times.

DEATH CAUSED FROM A SNAKE-BITE.—On the 27th instant a daughter of the Dutt family of Ramkistopore, in Howrah, while asleep, was bitten by a snake, and died within a couple of hours. This is the twenty-second death that has occurred in Howrah within the last month from snake-bite.—Englishman.

THE TIDAL GAUGES IN THE HOOGHLY.—About two weeks ago a boat laden with passengers ran foul of a tidal gauge opposite the Ramkistopore Ghat, and was swamped. There are several of these gauges placed in the bed of the river, but without lights, and the accident was caused because the manji of this boat was not able to see at a distance owing to the night being very dark. Some of the passengers were drowned.—Ibid.

AN ECCENTRIC INDIVIDUAL.—A native Kaist of Ramkistopore, supposed to be of an unsound mind, had invited about two hundred residents of Howrah, European and native, to his house on Saturday last to witness the performance called Prabha'ati Nataka and gymnastic plays. On arrival at the place of amusement the guests found the house quite dark, and the neighbours informed them that he was a pagla babu, so they had to come back in despair.—Ibid.

THE SENIOR PLEADERSHIP EXAMINATION.—Students who are qualifying themselves for the senior pleadership examination will be glad to hear that a revised list of subjects for the examination will shortly be published. Mr. Millett, junior professor of law in the Presidency College, Calcutta announced on the 9th inst. to the members of the second-year pleadership class that a revised list had been prepared, and that it had only to be sent round to the Judges for their signature. He had seen the list himself, and hoped that it would be published in a fortnight. Since the year 1869, when the present list was published, many Acts had been repealed; and in the revised list, he said, the students would find most of the new Acts passed during the last two years. Here he mentioned the Acts that would be substituted for those that had been repealed during the last two years, and said that in addition to the Indian Succession Act the revised list contained Act XXI. of 1870 (the Hindu Wills Act). He could not say for a certainty when the revised list would be published, but he hoped that it would be published in a fortnight.

A MODERN "CLASSICAL" STORY.—The following chapter from the heathen mythology, though differing slightly from the popularly accepted versions of the Latin authors, may be received as fact, the scene of which is laid at Hurdwar instead of the more familiar Olympus:—Vulcan, personated by a rude village blacksmith, having pressed his suit on the Venus (a courtezan) of the neighborhood, she rejected him with horror. Vulcan soon after discovered he had a more favoured rival in an inferior species of Mars, to wit, a Forest Department chuprasses. A minor deity having entrusted his weapon of war (a musket) to the genius of the anvil for repairs, the latter availed himself of it for executing other designs. Having manufactured and filled the weapon with some explosive compositions, the rejected wooer proceeded to the temple of his love, and there, finding her and his detested rival together, hurled his thunderbolt at the latter and struck him dead, and then in a frenzy of passion slaughtered the luckless Venus. True to tradition, other deities (chowkeedars) stood close by, terror-stricken spectators of the scene. Vulcan has retired from public life for the present, but Cerberus, in public uniform and a red puggree, has gone in quest of him!—Roorkee Correspondent of the Pioneer.

TRICHINOPOLY AND ITS OFFICIALS.—We learn from Trichinopoly that Mr. McC. Webster, the Acting Collector, has been ordered home without delay on sick certificate for two years. His successor is to be, we believe, Mr. J. B. Pennington, the present acting Collector of Madras. For the short period Mr. McC. Webster has been in Trichinopoly, he has earned for himself a name for justice and suavity of demeanour, a happy example of the suaviter in modo, fortiter in re method of doing things. On dit that the Tehsildar of Wodiarpolliam Taluq in the Trichy District struck a witness who was being examined before him with a ruler on the head about a week or ten days ago. The man died the next day; whether from spite or the effects of the blow has not transpired. The Perambore Tehsildar has, it appears, fallen a victim to his third stroke of paralysis, which is generally the fatal one in most cases. He will be obliged to take his pension almost immediately.—Madras Athenæum.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—A frequent cause of gout and rheumatism is the inflammatory state of the blood, attended with bad digestion and general debility. A few doses of the Pills taken in time, are an effectual preventive against gout and rheumatism. Anyone who has an attack of either should use Holloway's Ointment also, the powerful action of which, combined with the operation of the Pills, must infallibly effect a cure. These Pills act directly on the Blood, which they purify and improve. Having once subdued the severity of these diseases, perseverance with the Ointment, after fomenting the affected joints with warm brine, will speedily relax all stiffness, and prevent any permanent contraction.

THE LATE DR. NORMAN MACLEOD.

(Times.)

YESTERDAY, June 20, was laid to his rest in the churchyard of Campsie, near Glasgow, beside the grave of his father, the chief ecclesiastic of the Church of Scotland, in some respects the most conspicuous public man in the northern kingdom.

Norman Macleod was born at Campbeltown, in Argyleshire, in 1812. His early youth was passed partly in that "Highland Parish" which he has made famous by his lively sketches of his father's Manse, partly at the Universities of Glasgow and Edinburgh, and afterwards of Germany. In 1838 he was ordained minister of Loudoun in Ayrshire, whence he was translated to Dalkeith. There he resided till 1851, when he was presented to the Barony parish in Glasgow, of which the congregation originally worshipped in the crypt of the Cathedral as described in Rob Roy, and in later times in the large but ungainly church in its neighbourhood. Here the remainder of his life was passed, engaged in the laborious duties of pastoral ministrations. In 1860 he became the editor of Good Words. In 1858 he was appointed one of Her Majesty's Chaplains. In 1867 he undertook an arduous journey to India to examine into the state of the Scottish missions. It was this journey which gave the first shock to his great natural strength, but he still maintained with undaunted spirit his incessant labours. In the last General Assembly he delivered, what seemed to those who heard it, the finest of all his speeches. It was on the occasion—forced upon him by his failing health—of giving up the charge of those Indian missions in which he had taken so deep an interest. The effort was too much for him, and brought on an effusion of the pericardium, under which, retaining his faculties and composure to the last, he sank on June 16, surrounded by his family.

We have said that he was the chief ecclesiastic of the Scottish Church. No other man has during the last 30 years in all spiritual ministrations so nearly filled the place of Chalmers; no other man has occupied so high and important a position in guiding the ecclesiastical movements of his country since the death of Robertson, we might almost say since the death of Carstairs. In speaking thus we do not forget the venerable survivors of the last generation, or the ministers of Greyfriars, or the Professors of Theology at Glasgow and St. Andrew's who are quite equal to hold their own against their brother Professors in our southern Universities. Nor would we pass over the eloquence of a Guthrie or the diplomatic skill of a Candlish in the rival Church of the Disruption, or the affectionate reverence which gathers round the name of the Episcopalian Patriarch, Dean Ramsay. But we believe that all of these, and certainly their countrymen at large, would agree that Norman Macleod represented Scottish Protestantism more fully and powerfully than any other single name. He was the one Scotsman whose presence was enough to cheer, elevate, and sanctify any social, philanthropic, or religious undertaking. Under him and round him men would gather who would gather round no one else. When he spoke it was felt to be the voice, the

THE IMPERISHABLE PERFUME!

MURRAY & LANMAN'S
FLORIDA WATER, FOR THE
HANDKERCHIEF, THE TOILET, AND THE BATH.

This most agreeable and refreshing of all Perfumes, contains in its highest degree of excellence the aroma of flowers, in full natural freshness. As a safe and speedy relief from

DEBILITY,
HEADACHE,
NERVOUSNESS,
FAINTING TURNS,
AND THE ORDINARY FORMS OF HYSTERIA,

it is unsurpassed. It is moreover, when diluted with water, the very best centrifrice, imparting to the teeth that clear, pearly appearance, which all ladies so much admire. As a remedy for foul or bad breath, it is, when diluted, most excellent, neutralizing all impure matter around the teeth and gums, and making the latter hard and of a beautiful color. With the very élite of fashion it has, for a quarter of a century, maintained its ascendancy over all other Perfumes, throughout the West Indies, Mexico, Central and South America, &c., &c.; and we confidently recommend it as an article which, for soft delicacy of flavor, richness of bouquet, and permanency, has no equal. It will also remove from the skin

ROUGHNESS, BLOTCHES, SUNBURNS, FRECKLES, AND PIMPLES.

It should always be reduced with pure water, before applying, (except for Pimples). As a means of imparting freshness and clearness to a sallow complexion, it is without a rival. Of course, this refers only to the Florida Water of MURRAY & LANMAN.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Buy only from respectable Druggists, always asking for the genuine, MURRAY & LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER, prepared only by the proprietors, FAMILY HERALD.

FAMILY HERALD, WEEKLY 1d.

The Illustrated London News, in reference to pure literature, speaks of "The FAMILY HERALD, that joy to tens of thousands of innocent English households."

FAMILY HERALD, MONTHLY 6d.

The Saturday Review says—"The FAMILY HERALD stands at the head, both in age and popularity, of all the penny serials. . . . The editor is the confidant and confessor in every station of life. The Answers to Correspondents cannot be fictitious, a romance and a life history being embodied in almost each of them. . . . Its novels and tales are quite as well written as the best circulating library stories."

FAMILY HERALD, ANNUALLY 7s. 6d.

The Literary Gazette says—"It must be said of the FAMILY HERALD, that it is the purest reading of all purely amusing literature: it is indeed a family paper."

FAMILY HERALD, WEEKLY 1d.

The British Quarterly Review says—"Under the head of 'The Story Teller,' we have novels and tales simpler and purer in structure than in the pages of the older penny serials. . . . There are charming verses let into its pages, like sunshine, to brighten them. . . . It is well considered with refer-nce to its aims, and innocent and amusing, with a fair amount of utility intermixed. Of all these publications we are inclined to consider the FAMILY HERALD the best."

FAMILY HERALD, MONTHLY 6d.

Leigh Hunt, in his Autobiography, says—"I call out every week for my FAMILY HERALD, a penny publication qualified to inform the best of its contemporaries."

FAMILY HERALD, ANNUALLY 7s. 6d.

The Bookseller says—"For amusing reading, such as may be admitted to one's household without fear of consequences, we can recommend the FAMILY HERALD. You get portions of a well-written novel, novellettes, useful information, interspersed throughout, answers to correspondents, alone worth the money, and a variety of other matters, which will make readers either merrier or wiser, or perhaps both."
